

The CfAH's COVID-19 Discussion Series
Between Historical Inequalities and Future Challenges

Systemic Injustice or Individual Blame?: Why COVID-19 is Not a Democratic Pandemic

A discussion panel with:

Jorge Montiel

(moderator)

PhD Candidate, Philosophy
CfAH Graduate Assistant

Dr. Grant Silva

Associate Professor
Philosophy

Dr. Alexandre Martins

Assistant Professor
Theology and Nursing

Dr. Phillip Rocco

Associate Professor
Political Science

Dr. Erin Hoekstra

Assistant Professor
Social and Cultural Sciences

Dr. Andrew Kim

Associate Professor, Director
Theology, CfAH

The COVID-19 Discussion Series aims to invite the Marquette community to reflect on the historical inequalities that make certain populations particularly vulnerable during the pandemic and on the future challenges these populations might face as a result of the pandemic. The series will focus on the intersections of poverty, race, gender, and issues related to discrimination, labor, and health.

Thursday, February 10th from 5:00-6:30 pm via YouTube

Please register on Eventbrite for the “COVID-19 Discussion Series”

For more information, please email cfah@marquette.edu