

2023-2024 UNDERGRADUATE FIRST DESTINATION SURVEY

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

OIRA, Spring 2025

Introduction

The Undergraduate First Destination Survey investigates the employment and enrollment in graduate/professional school activities of recent bachelor's degree recipients with the goal of estimating post-graduation outcomes rates. The target population is bachelor's degree recipients who graduated between July 1, 2023, and June 30, 2024.

Initial data were gathered just before graduation via an online instrument. For those who did not respond to the initial survey, or indicated they were still seeking employment, a follow-up online survey invitation was sent to the graduate via email. A third follow-up to non-responders and those still seeking employment involved obtaining information from the graduate via social media. National Student Clearinghouse and Marquette University enrollment data were also utilized to place non-responders into the outcome category related to enrollment in graduate/professional school. Data collection ends six months after a student's degree conferment date.

2023-2024 UNDERGRADUATE FIRST DESTINATION SURVEYExecutive Summary*First Destination Post-Graduation Outcomes

Graduates were grouped into one of several post-graduation outcomes based on their survey response. The categories are mutually exclusive. Post-graduation service represents students who are participating in a stipend-paid post-graduation service position such as the Peace Corps, AmeriCorps, or the Jesuit Volunteer Corps. Planning to continue education, not admitted/enrolled represents those not actively seeking employment and planning to enroll in a graduate/professional program. Not employed or in school, not seeking employment represents students who indicated they were not engaged in an activity and were not actively seeking employment or enrollment in a graduate/professional program. Seeking employment indicates those who were not engaged in any activity above and were still seeking employment as six months after graduation.

In 2023-2024, the percent of graduates who are full-time employed is 56%.

From the outcomes above, we can calculate a “fully engaged” percentage, which is the percentage of respondents who are employed full-time, in the military, in a stipend-paid service position, or attending graduate/professional school full-time or part-time.

The percentage of respondents who are “fully engaged” is shown below by college. The fully engaged rate for the 2023-2024 cohort was 84.2%.

Undergraduate Internships, Co-ops, and Research Experiences

Respondents from certain colleges were asked to report whether they participated in an internship, co-op, or research experience during their undergraduate career. Overall, 79% (n = 1,181) of survey responders provided information for this question set. The chart below shows this breakdown by college. Respondents may be counted in the multiple activity categories or "None of the above," so the totals across rows will not sum to 100%. Note that the College of Education chose not to ask these questions of their students because of practical experience requirements built into their curriculum. The College of Nursing chose to begin asking this section as of the 2023-24 graduating cohort.

Respondents who indicated that they participated in at least one internship were asked how many internships they had (up to six). Respondents who indicated that they participated in at least one research experience were asked how many research experiences they had (up to three). A team of representatives from each college helped to determine what the maximum number of internships and research experiences should be and noted that students almost never participate in more than one co-op; hence, the number of co-ops was not asked. For this survey, a research experience was defined as an experience in which a student conducted or helped to conduct research and was mentored by or worked closely with a faculty member, graduate student, or research group. Respondents were instructed not to include class projects, capstone projects, or independent study work.

The table below shows gross starting salaries of full-time, non-temporary employed graduates by college. The salary numbers exclude those active in the military, those in a post-graduation stipend-paid service position, those in a temporary position, and those employed as medical scribes. About 66% of full-time employed respondents reported salary information on the survey (compared with 78% in 2022-2023 and 73% in 2021-2022).

Graduate and Professional Education

Those pursuing graduate/professional school were asked to indicate the type of degree they are pursuing and the field of study of the degree. The survey also collected the name of the school, although that information is not included within this report.

About half of those pursuing graduate/professional school are pursuing a Master's degree. The "Other professional doctorate" category includes degrees such as Doctor of Optometry (O.D.) and Doctor of Audiology (AuD). The "Other" category primarily includes second bachelor's degrees and certificates.

Students pursuing either Master's or Ph.D. degrees were asked to indicate their field of study. The "Other" category in the Master's Degree chart includes fields such as design, public health, and behavior analysis.

2023-2024 UNDERGRADUATE FIRST DESTINATION SURVEYExecutive Summary*Seeking Employment and Planning on Continuing Education

Graduates who indicated they were either seeking employment or planning to continue education were asked to comment on their job search or graduate/professional program search process. Respondents who reported that they were seeking employment and who responded to this follow-up question (n = 163) had the option to choose from a list of seven options to describe where they were in the process. All respondents who completed the “seeking employment” follow-up questions are included in the charts below, even those who indicated that they were also in another post-graduation outcome category (e.g. employed part-time and seeking employment). Respondents could check all that applied to them; therefore, the percentages across each row will not add up to 100%.

Discussion

Results from this annual survey are distributed to many campus constituency groups and are used to inform current and future students of first destination post-graduation outcomes.

There are interactive reports available that provide further investigation into Undergraduate First Destination Survey data:

- Outcomes by College and Graduation Year (public)
- Outcomes by Major (public)

Data collection procedures for this survey follow the National Association of Colleges and Employers (NACE) standards and protocols for the collection of graduating student initial career outcomes information for undergraduates. First Destination Survey outcomes data, aggregated at the major/program level, are submitted to NACE for inclusion in NACE's yearly report on first destination outcomes, including national hiring and continuing education trends.
